The Daily Courant.

Thurſday, July 5. 1705.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated July 10.

From the Journal of the Imperialiſts, kept in the Camp at Gavardo, June 18.

THE 15th of June Advice was brought that the Palatin Troops were arriv'd on the ſide of the Lake of Garda; whereupon ſeveral Boats were ſent to Riva, to fetch over their Foot, their Horſe taking their March by the Val di Sabbia to joyn the Body to Forces commanded by General Roccavione. Orders were given for bringing from the Lake of Gavardo ſome ſmall Boats, for laying Bridges over the Chieſe, in order to facilitate the March of the Troops, The 16th the Regiments of Iſelbach, paſs'd the Lake; as that of Saxe Meiningen did the Day before. And divers Recruits and Horſes for remounting the Cavalry under General Roccavione arriv'd likewiſe. The Baggage of the Palatin Troops continued to paſs the Lake the 17th, and we are hard at work to get every thing ready for a March.

Later Advices from Breſcia, incerted in the Letters from Inſpruch of the 1ſt of this Month, contain in Subſtance, that the Night betweeu the 21ſt and 22d Ult. Prince Eugene decamp'd from Gavardo, and that the 22d he poſted himſelf at Ponte-Vigo near the Oglio. That a Detachment of 1000 Horſe and 500 Grenadies, had already paſs'd that River at Monticelo; and that this unexcepted March had extremely ſurpriz'd the Enemy, who believ'd Prince Eugene would attack Palazzuolo or Soncino.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated July 9.

Salo, June 24. The Night between the 21ſt and 22d Inſtant, The Imperialiſts decamp'd from Gavardo, and joyn'd the Troops that were at Navi under the Command of the Count de Rocavione. Which done, Prince Eugene of Savoy advanc'd with the greateſt part of his Army by Roncadella towards Rudiano, within 3 ſhort Leagues of the Oglio, and has left the reſt at Navi. Yeſterday the Grand Prior of France decamp'd from Moſcolino, to follow Prince Eugene, who has gain'd a long March of him. The French, before they mov'd after the Imperialiſts, abandon'd the Caſtles of Morigia, Podenghe, and Drugolo; as alſo Dezenzano, having firſt demoliſh'd the Fortifications they had made there, and deſtroy'd the arm'd Barks which they had on the Lake of Garda.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated July 11.

From the Camp at Manerba, June 26. After 3 hard Marches we arriv'd here the 24th, and the Grand Prior ſeeing the Enemy made no Motion, reſolv'd to ſtay here ſome Days, to reſt the Troops that were extremely fatigu'd. Yeſterday the Grand Prior was at Pontevigo, where word was brought him, that a great Number of the Enemy's Foot appear'd near our Guard of Horſe that was poſted on the Right of our Camp; and finding they were the Van of the Enemy's Army, he drew up ours in Battalia. Prince Eugene thought to find us marching, and then propos'd to attack us, but he was diſappointed; and this Morning came Intelligence that the Enemy retir'd laſt Night 2 Leagues, towards Roncadella by the ſame Way they came. Our Left Wing extends to Baſton, and our Right is here; the Mela being in our Rear. We have ſent 4 Battallions and 5 Squadrons to the Oglio.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated July 11.

Paris, July 6. By the freſheſt Advices they have at Court from the Grand Prior of France, it appears he will not be able to hinder Prince Eugene's marching into the Milaneſe, that Prince having already gain'd a March of him, and 'tis not doubted is come over the Oglio.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated July 9.

Frankfort, July 5. They write from Munich, that the 6th Son of the Elector of Bavaria died there the 28th ult. and that the young Princeſs is very ſick. 'Tis adviſ'd from Alſace, that the Marſhal de Villars has joyn'd the Marſhal de Marſin with 20000 Men; and that the Enemy threaten to attack the Imperialiſts in their Lines; and afterwards to beſiege Landau; in order to which a great Train of Artillery and Ammunition is getting ready at Strasburg.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated July 10.

From the Imperial Camp near Lauterbourg, July 3. The 30th of laſt Month our Army march'd towards Weiſſembourg; but upon Advice that the Marſhal de Marſin had receiv'd a ſecond Reinforcement from the Moſelle, and that he expected the Marſhal de Villars to joyn him, our Genetals judg'd it proper to retire towards the Lines, there to wait the coming of the reſt of the Troops from the Moſelle, which are to joyn us in 2 or 3 Days, and then we ſhall be as ſtrong as the Enemy. Mean time, becauſe they make Preparations at Strasburg, 2 Imperial Regiments are poſted near Philipsbourg, who will march as need may require. The Enemy give out, they will attack a Fort that we have near Fort-Louis, which incommodes them extremly.

They write from the lower Rhine of the 7th of this Month, that they had receiv'd no Letters from Treves 2 Poſts together; becauſe the French keep the Gates faſt ſhut, and ſuffer no Courier to go out. Men are ſet to Work to put the Caſtle of Traerbach inte a good Condition of Defence; and as ſoon as that is done, the Palatin Troops and thoſe of the Circle of Weſtphalia that are on the Moſelle, will march to the upper Rhine, becauſe the Marſhal de Villars is march'd with moſt of his Troops towards Alſace. Some Letters from Milan, dated the 27th of June, ſay, Prince Eugene has paſs'd the Oglio with his Army, and is entred into the Cremoneze; of which we wait a Confirmation.

From the Paris Letter, dated July 6.

Paris, July 6. They write from Court, That an Expreſs is arriv'd there with Advice, that the Marſhal de Marſin is advanc'd to Dirembach between Weiſembourg and Landau, and has poſſeſſed himſelf of 2 Poſts which will probably oblige the Enemy to abandon the Lines of Lauterbourg. The Marſhal de Villars was to joyn him the 4th or 5th Inſtant. 'Tis ſaid the Marſhal de Marſin will continue in Alſace at the deſire of the Marſhal de Villars.

Letters of the 24th of June, from the Camp before Chivas, tell us, the Duke of Vendome has poſſeſs'd himſelf of ſeveral Eminences, and that the Village of Caſtagnito would be attack'd the next Day,

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated July 10.

Amſterdam, July 10. The Affairs of Poland appear to be more embroil'd now than ever. The Diet that was to meet at Warſaw the 19th of June, is put off, becauſe the Cardinal Primate was not arriv'd there at the time from Dantzick; which Delay of his is imputed to new Obſtacles. In the Univerſalia iſſued by by his Eminency for ſummoning the ſaid Diet, he inſinuated, that the King of Pruſſia had renew'd a Treaty with the King of Sweden, and had acknowledg'd King Staniſlaus; but the King of Pruſſia has openly diſown'd the ſame, by a Letter that is made publick. On the other ſide, we hear the Court of Rome perſiſt in declaring formally againſt the Proceedings of his ſaid Eminency; and 'tis hard to believe he will break through that Obſtacle, after the Threats that have been made to him.

From the Bruſſels Gazette, dated July 7.

Bruſſels, July 7. The Army commanded by the Duke of Marlborough having paſs'd the Maeſe over 2 Bridges laid at Viſet, and joyn'd that under Monſieur d' Auverquerque, came and encamp'd the 2d Inſtant upon the Rivulet of Liene; with their Right at Tiz and their Left at Hennef. Upon this Motion his Electoral Highneſs of Bavaria thought fit to move likewiſe the 3d, and entred the Lines with his Army, which is encamp'd from Bonnef and Wateiges to the hither ſide of the Abbey of Heliſſem: His Electoral Highneſs has his Head-Quarters at Jauche, and waits for the laſt Re-enforcement from the Moſelle, in order to march again out of the Lines. The Detachment of 6 Battalions and 8 Squadrons led by the Count of Manderſcheidt, joyn'd the Army the 3d Inſtant.

'From the Confederate Army encamp'd at Lens des Beguines, July 9. We ſhall ſtay here till the Siege of Huy is over, which we expect ſoon, our Batteries having begun to fire to Day, and the Enemy having but one weak Battalion of Perigord, 100 detach'd Men, and a free Company in it. The French keep in their Lines, and are hard at work to enlarge the Ditch.

Falmouth, June 30. This Day put in here the Queen Ann Privateer of Flushing; who in her Cruiſe hither took a French Privateer of 14 Guns and ſent her into Portſmouth: She brought another French Prize in here.

Plymouth, July 1. This Day came in here a Dutch Privateer with a Prize of 130 Tons 18 Guns with Sugar and Cotton from Guardeloupa. Sail'd Her Majeſty's Ship the Albermarle with three Tenders for Torbay.

Dartmouth, July 1. On Friday Night laſt came into Torbay, Admiral Bing, from cruiſing on the Coaſt of France, with 20 Sail of Men of War.

Harwich, July 3. On Sunday the Marquis of Carmarthen with his Squadron ſail'd from hence with all the Merchant Ships under his Convoy for Holland and Hamburg.
